

Improved Parking Facilities Sought for Rural Visitors

Chamber of Commerce Committee Takes Up Matter With City

The recently organized agricultural committee of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce, which has become the most active group in the organization, last evening attended the regular weekly city council meeting, the first such experience to some of the men and to all it was an interesting and instructive visit. President Walter Knack of the Chamber of Commerce accompanied the committee.

The purpose of the visit was to enlist the assistance and cooperation of the city commission in making minor changes in the present parking regulations which will benefit rural shoppers in Dixon. A 20 or 30 minute parking period from 6 to 7:30 each Saturday evening governing the parking lots from Peoria to Ottawa avenues and on River street, was the outstanding suggestion offered by the committee.

President Knack was the first speaker to address the council. Briefly he reviewed the result of a questionnaire which was mailed out to more than 900 rural shoppers in the vicinity of Dixon. He presented the chairman of the committee, W. E. Beamblossom.

For More Friendly City

Citing interesting statistics which shows retail sales in Dixon to be in excess of $10,000,000 annually, Chairman Beamblossom told the commission that the committee in its program of activity sought to make Dixon a more friendly city, and while it now attracts a healthy rural business, it is hoped by making changes in the present parking system, to attract additional business. He suggested the 20 minute parking order on the parking lots along the river bank from 6 to 7:30 o'clock on Saturday evenings only as one improvement. Harold Emmert, Leon Garrison and George Nettz followed with suggestions.

Commissioner Cal G. Tyler, sponsor of the present plan of parking which has proven most satisfactory, explained that the ordinance now in effect resulted from a scientific survey by traffic engineers of parking conditions in Dixon and added that the measure was intended as a shoppers' regulation. He assured the committee that he was in complete sympathy with their suggestions for the greater convenience of the shopping public and offered his assistance in improving conditions.

Criticism Recalled
Mayor Slothower told the committee that the city had been severely criticized when the land was purchased for the parking of automobiles along the river bank some years ago, but that since other city administrations have come to Dixon to obtain information with a view of adopting the plan. He informed the committee members that he was in accord with the suggested parking limit for a period each Saturday night and thanked the committee for its interest in the city's welfare and the timely suggestions.

Commissioner Tyler suggested to the committee and council that residents of Dixon might cooperate by shopping early on Saturday so that the parking facilities would be available to the rural shoppers

Spectacular Fire in Oil Refinery Kills Two Persons

Seminole, Okla., July 19.—(AP)—A spectacular oil refinery fire, believed set off by sparks from an automobile, killed two persons, injured three others and destroyed the plant distillery and six nearby homes last night.

Handicapped by lack of water, firemen from Seminole and Shawnee devoted their all night efforts to preventing the searing flames from spreading to more than 50 homes near Sinclair's No. 12 refinery, a mile southeast of here. Also endangered were 18 producing oil wells in the vicinity.

The dead:
Mary Elizabeth Sacksfield, 87, who was hurled from her bed by one blast. Her body was found in a nearby creek. Her home was demolished.

$1,000,000 Damage

Frank R. Vaughn, 38, refinery employee, who died of burns. Damage to the plant was estimated at $1,000,000 by Seminole Fire Chief Everett Broadnax.

One after another, 28 storage tanks, each filled with 1,000 barrels of butane gasoline, exploded, sending flames more than 2,000 feet into the air.
Broadnax said the fire resulted from a broken gasoline line which was set afire by sparks from an automobile.
He said Vaughn saw a car driven by C. R. Haskins, 37, approaching and tried vainly to head it off. Haskins, also an employee of the refinery, was burned critically.

Watseka Farmer's Murder Case Goes to Jury This Morn

Watseka, Ill., July 19.—(AP)—The case of Robert Fiester, 55-year-old Watseka farmer charged with murdering his niece, was given to a Circuit court jury at 9:27 A. M. (SCT) today.

The eight women and four men jurors were told by Judge Roscoe C. South that they may choose one of three penalties if they find the defendant guilty—death, life imprisonment, or imprisonment for a minimum of 14 years. Fiester, who suffered two heart attacks during his trial, lay on a cot in the courtroom as Judge South issued instructions to the jury. The judge pointed out that Fiester had presented an alibi and that the jury must consider it in determining whether he is guilty or not guilty.

Charged With Two Deaths
Fiester's niece, Miss Royale Hinkle, 26, and her fiancé, Lowell Gray, 25, were found shot to death last March 28 in a bedroom on the farm home which all three occupied. Fiester was tried on a charge of slaying his niece, but the prosecution also charged that he killed Gray.

State's Attorney A. Fred Kendall of Iroquois county in his summation to the jury said that Fiester shot Miss Hinkle because he was indebted to her. He had accepted financial aid from his niece, Kendall said, and had given her a deed to his farm with a provision that the property would revert to him after her death.
Defense Counsel Claude Saum told the jury that Gray shot Miss Hinkle—after a quarrel—and then killed himself. Defense testimony was offered intended to show that the couple had a quarrel on the night preceding the finding of their bodies, Gray accusing Miss Hinkle of going out with other men.

Plain to See

New York, July 19.—(AP)—Murray Kaplan, an attorney, hired a battery of other lawyers to help figure out his part of an estimated $1,000,000 estate in which he was an heir.

They found there was only $340,000 and plenty of claimants. Kaplan's share finally boiled down to $74,755, but—
The lawyers want $50,000 in fees, and Kaplan has turned to the courts for a reduction, pointing out as it's plain to see, he'd have been better off without any inheritance in the first place.

"If F. D. R. Would 'Pull a Wheeler' He'd Keep Us Out of War"; Wheeler

Washington, July 19.—(AP)—Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) said today that "If the President would 'pull a Wheeler' he would keep his promise to keep us out of war."

The Montanan, consistent critic of administrations foreign policies, was referring to Roosevelt's press conference statement yesterday that he would not disclose future troop movement. Authorizing direct quotation, the chief executive added: "In other words, I don't think it's right that I should pull a Wheeler."

Wheeler predicted in advance the movement of American forces to Iceland, and Britain's Prime Minister Churchill implied later that the senator had endangered British lives by his statement.

Repeating that if he "pulled a Wheeler" the President would keep the nation out of war, Wheeler added Roosevelt had made that promise during the last campaign and also "made a prom-

Heat and Fires in Pacific Northwest Exact Heavy Toll

Human Life, Grain and Timber Destroyed by Nature's Forces

Seattle, July 19.—(AP)—Heat and fires have taken a toll of lives, timber and grain in the Pacific northwest, but the weathermen held out hope today of relief from the blistering temperatures of the past week.

In Oregon, nine deaths were attributed to the heat, four persons drowned and one was killed by lightning. Washington charged two deaths to the heat and reported dozens of prostrations.

Temperatures in the two states have climbed as high as 115 degrees in recent days, breaking all-time records in several areas.

Fires, most of them set by lightning, have exacted a toll of timber and wheat.

The regional forest service office at Portland reported 954 lightning-set fires in Oregon and Washington national forests in the past four days. Most of them were controlled before they could do much damage.

Hundreds of other blazes were set by lightning in state and private forest lands. Most of these in Oregon were under control, but hundreds of men were rushed to fire lines in Washington.

Manpower at Premium
Manpower was at a premium because of curtailed CCC camp operations and the reduced unemployed rolls during the defense industrial boom.

Army blitz methods were used in the Chelan-Wenatchee region, where eight parachutists from Missoula, Mont., dropped to the fire fighting scene. Airplanes also were used in scouting and supply roles.

The worst fires were reported in the Rapid river sector of the Snoqualmie national forest and in the Wenatchee region of eastern Washington. Travel was prohibited in the former area, where the main blaze has swept 5,000 acres. Flames menaced the vast granary of southeastern Washington. Shortly after dawn of the principal 4,000-acre grain field blaze was reported last night, lightning set uncounted new fires.

The telephone operator at Prescott, a wheat village in the Walla Walla country, reported at the height of confusion "The whole country seems on fire."

Wesolik Returned to Woodstock Jail

Woodstock, Ill., July 19.—(AP)—Richard M. Wesolik, 16, a parolee from the Illinois Training School for Boys at St. Charles, was held in jail here today pending his trial for the slaying of Mrs. Margaret Jung, 37, wife of the Woodstock farmer who sponsored his parole.

Wesolik, who was captured in Belleville Wednesday night, was returned here from Springfield last yesterday by Sheriff Lester Edinger of McHenry county and deputies. The sheriff said the youth expressed no regrets for having beaten to death Mrs. Jung, the mother of five children.

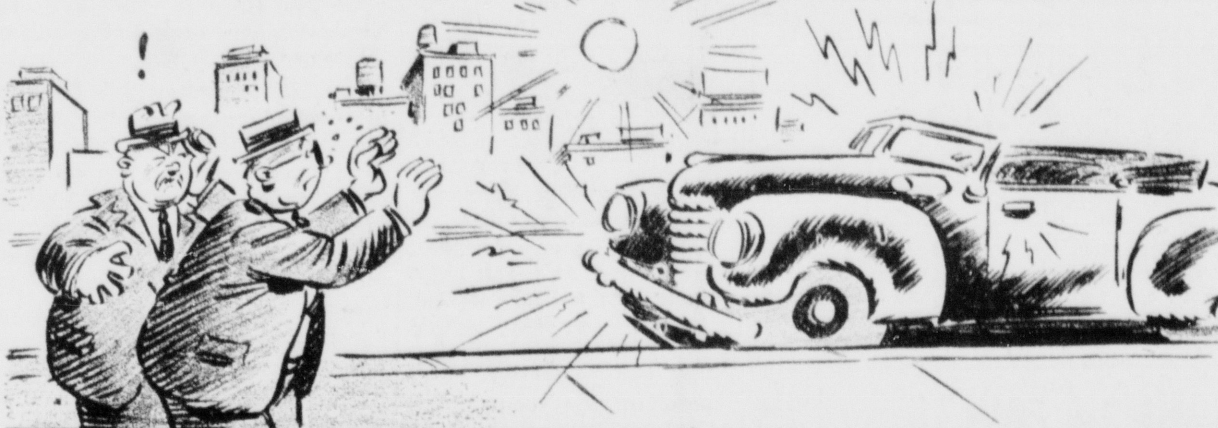

State's Attorney William M. Carroll said he would confer with Circuit Judge Ralph Dady of Waukegan on plans for recalling the May grand jury to hear the case. Wesolik was to be arraigned before Police Magistrate Grant Nolan for a preliminary hearing. The sheriff said Wesolik confessed slaying Mrs. Jung on her farm home last Monday after she had reprimanded him for staying out late at night.

Gov. Green Quietly Making Record as a "Veto Governor"

Possible Challenge to Horner's Mark Seen in His Decisions

Springfield, Ill., July 19.—(AP)—Word from the statehouse that Governor Green intends to veto the handbook bill served today to establish that the Republican chief executive, during his first year in office, is quietly making a record as a "veto governor."

Thus far Green has vetoed 31 bills enacted by the 62nd General Assembly, and still on his desk awaiting disposition are 184 more bills.
It appeared possible, but not likely, that he would challenge or equal the veto records of the late Gov. Henry Horner who wrote "No" on more legislation than any other governor the state ever had. The all-time high veto mark was set by Horner in 1937, when 69 bills were rejected after passing both houses of the legislature. During and after the 1939 session, the Horner veto mark was 59 bills. In 1935 it was 51 bills and in 1933 the number was 53.

Of the bills vetoed so far by Green, the most controversial were the Dale bills, 12 in number, which would have barred aliens from obtaining state licenses to practice medicine, law and other professions in Illinois.

Follows Horner's Practice
Green this week vetoed a bill which would have authorized a $4,000,000 bond issue in Cook county for payment of overdue court costs owed by the county. He filed a message sharply criticizing local officials in Cook county for failing to meet the obligations as they were incurred.

In addition to vetoing a number of minor appropriations which the legislature voted to private organizations, the governor issued an order recently to the state finance department to withhold payment of approximately $90,000 in other similar appropriations pending a test of their legality in the courts.

Following the practice of Horner, upheld in 1939 by the Supreme Chicago, July 19.—(AP)—Dr. William H. Haines, acting director of the Cook County Behavior Clinic, says that Bernard Sawicki, 19-year-old confessed slayer of four persons, is a youth of higher than average intelligence but devoid of any emotion or sense of morality.

Dr. Haines' report on the examination of Sawicki, a parolee from the Illinois School for Boys at St. Charles will be presented in criminal court of Judge Grover C. Niemeyer on Monday when a date will be set for his trial on charges of murder in connection with three of the four slayings. His victims were Policeman Charles J. Widened Breach in Stalin's Line Claim of Nazis

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Telegraph Special Service)

The news most significant of the trend in the battle of the giant armies along the Russian front is that part of the personnel of the American embassy has moved from Moscow to Kazan, 450 miles eastward, thus emphasizing the grave and growing danger to the soviet capital.

That precautionary move fits in perfectly with the word from the fighting line, which continues to sway and bulge with the violence of the carnage like a sausage-balloon in a hurricane—constantly swinging deeper into Red territory, threatening to break and pour the Nazi invaders across the broad plains that lead to Moscow.

What has happened in this central sector of the front is that the Germans have forced the powerful natural defense at Smolensk, which is the gateway to the capital. This defense is a strip of land which forms a bridge between the sweeping Dvina and Dnieper rivers—like a pass cut through the mountains. The Nazis have exploited this achievement rapidly, driving a deep salient into the Russian front and constantly increasing the threat of a complete break in the Red line at this crucial point.

But the bolsheviks still continued to fling themselves against the German steel in a defense which, in view of the Nazi superiority in the vital air and mechanized land equipment, has been remarkable both for its bravery and its strategic direction. This is not to detract from the prowess of the German legions, which is traditionally great.

Thus while the battle isn't decided as yet, it is clear that the Germans are pressing forward towards their immediate objectives. However, the war is still young if the bolsheviks don't collapse in this first onslaught.

The impression is growing on both sides of the Atlantic that Hitler is preparing to offer Britain new peace terms if he is successful in this invasion. Lord Halifax, British ambassador to Washington, called attention to the prospect in a speech at San Francisco yesterday. The origin of the report is obscure though it wouldn't be surprising to learn that it was inspired by nazidom as a trial balloon.

Whether the fuhrer does indeed have such a purpose remains to be seen. It's interesting, however, to note the probable strength of his position if he is able to knock Russia out—an "if" which is on the knees of the gods.

With the bolsheviks conquered, Herr Hitler would be lord of the entire continent of Europe. He would have secured from Russia many of the supplies, especially the breadstuffs and oil, which he so badly needs. He wouldn't have made the reich self-sufficient, as it's highly probable that he would have acquired sufficient supplementary supplies to enable him to feed Europe and maintain his military position in the face of the British blockade, which has

Chicago, July 19.—(AP)—It wasn't just the ants that made a company picnic no picnic for Rudolph Schodrof, 28.

A park accident report showed a nurse treated him in this order:
1. For a cut on his left foot, suffered while wading.
2. For a bruised big toe on his left foot, suffered when he stumbled in a ball game.
3. For a bite on his left leg "by a woman while wrestling."

"I also caught a bad cold and an 'hoarse'," Rudolph whispered, "but I guess that doesn't show on the reports."

Accident, in Which Amboy Miss Is Badly Hurt, Proves Fatal to Babe

Injuries received in an automobile collision south of Morrison during a blinding rainstorm shortly after midnight yesterday, in which her mother and Joyce Winans of Amboy were seriously hurt, proved fatal early Friday evening to Nina Lee Secor, 16 months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Secor of Warrenville, Dupage county. The child died in a Morrison hospital where Mrs. Secor and Miss Winans were reported in serious condition this morning.

The accident occurred when the car driven by Secor struck one driven by Lauren Ballard of Prophetstown. The Secor infant, sitting on her mother's lap in the front seat, was thrown against the windshield, and suffered a skull fracture. Passing motorists took the victims to the hospital. The Secor family was driving to Des Moines, Ia., to visit Mr. Secor's grandmother. Ballard was returning Miss Winans to her home in Amboy after she had been to visit her grandmother in Prophetstown.

Russia Reports 4,000,000 in Reserves

(By The Associated Press)

Rounding out the fourth week of the great offensive against Russia, the German high command reported today a widening of the Smolensk breach in the Stalin line facing Moscow, and the Russians, perhaps significantly, omitted the usual claim that they were holding their ground.

While German armored might thrust within 230 miles of the Russian capital from the southwest and as part of the United States embassy staff left Moscow for Kazan, in the Tartar republic, 450 miles to the east, there came word from Istanbul that the Russians were holding 4,000,000 men in reserve for defense of the city.

The source of this report was an axis diplomat who was stationed in Moscow until the outbreak of the war. He said that this fresh army of 4,000,000 was waiting behind Moscow, ready to roll against the German forces in a carefully timed counter-offensive. He made the point that this force was separate from Russia's big Far Eastern army.

The Russian command said that the full fury of the blitz offensive was concentrated in the Smolensk and related sectors. "Stubborn fighting" continued there during the night, the communique said.

Offensive Minimized

While the Red army minimized the German offensive in sectors away from the center of the long front, the German high command claimed for its troops and Rumanian comrades a crossing of the Dniester (Dnestr) river in several places in an advance from Russian Bessarabia into the Ukraine. There had been previous German reports to this effect.

The Germans also claimed a breaking of "embittered enemy resistance" by Finnish-German forces advancing to the northern shore of Lake Ladoga in the flanking offensive north of Leningrad. Big refineries in Rumania's Ploesti oil fields and tanks containing 20,000 tons of oil have been destroyed by the Red air force, an authoritative source said at Ankara.

This is part of the rearguard action, by air and by land, in the operations of guerrilla forces, which will slow the Germans before they can roll to Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev, their major goals.

Claim Cities Recaptured

Russian guerrilla detachments behind the German lines were reported to have recaptured two cities identified as "SH" and "Z". The army newspaper Red Star said the guerrillas, originally 10 men expanded by recruiting of "partisans", and armed them-

Immigration from German-Controlled Europe Tightened

Washington, July 19.—(AP)—Weeding out axis spies, subversive agents and propagandists, two inter-departmental committees established to tighten up drastically on immigration from German-dominated Europe are now handling 100 cases a day against a human backlog of 500,000 refugees clamoring to enter the United States.

The two committees, composed of representatives of the state, war and navy departments, Federal Bureau of Investigation, and immigration service of the justice department, were organized to supervise issuance of immigration visas under President Roosevelt's new authority to control the entrance or exit of aliens or Americans "in the interest of national defense."

Guard Against Agents

Officials said every effort is being made by detailed investigations here and abroad to determine the desirability of applicants as prospective American citizens and to keep foreign agents from slipping into the country in the guise of immigrants.

Under Roosevelt's orders, visa applications also are carefully examined, to prevent the entry of persons who leave close relatives in Germany, Italy or Nazi-conquered countries.

An official state department announcement said the regulation was necessary because a considerable number of cases had been discovered where such applicants had promised to act as German agents here, with their close relatives held as hostages to insure delivery of information desired concerning American defense activities.

Faulty Houses; Some of The Common Causes

By PAUL T. HAAGEN

So many small homes just miss being good; that is, good from the standpoint that they might be better, for the same money expended, if a little more foresight had been used in the planning of the house. Let's see what are some of the common causes of a badly designed home.

First the plan of your house should be arranged so that your living conditions function perfectly. The plan should be arranged so that all of the comforts and conveniences are included with practical arrangements and ease and economy of operation.

There should be good construction and cross ventilation and plenty of daylight in every room. The placement of the garage is important. It should be located where it will be the least objectionable and yet with ease of access to the house.

The kitchen layout is important also. Have plenty of working counters and adequate cupboards. The living quarters, that is the living room, dining room and kitchen should be well separated from the bed rooms.

The rooms should be laid out so that the furniture needed in the various rooms will have wall space against which the furniture may be placed. There should be plenty of base plugs and switches for lighting the home.

From a questionnaire recently sent to hundreds of home owners, the following items were listed as being lacking or needed in their homes.

There were not enough closets. Two baths were needed or at least a bath on the first floor with a shower in addition to the second floor bath. Inadequate heating equipment. Drafty houses, probably due to bad or no insulation. Dark halls, wet basements, inconvenient kitchens, not enough electric light outlets, not enough porch space, and too many steps for the housewife in carrying on the daily routine of housekeeping.

I suggest in planning a new home that the homeowner check these items against the plan they intend to build and try and correct any of the faulty items found in the plan. Most of them may be eliminated and corrected if considered in time.

CONSERVATIVE

This conservative small house would be adaptable to many families. It has a good sized bedroom on the first floor as well as a full bath. There are two bedrooms and bath on the second floor and the garage is most convenient to the kitchen. There is a full basement under the house.

COMMON FAULTS OF MODERN HOMES SHOULD BE CHECKED

The best way to know any house is to live in it. Naturally, you are fully aware of the things which annoy you about the home you now occupy. The editors of the "Architectural Forum" decided recently that they could discover many of the common faults of the average house, if they found out what people don't like, and so they asked nearly 1,200 householders to spill their woes.

The results are interesting and very important to the prospective home planner or buyer.

The construction of a house is perhaps the largest single purchase the average family ever makes... the purchase is usually made only once, with the result that there is little chance to profit from home-building experience of your own. The moral of all this is that you need consult the accumulated experience of others while planning your home. Find out the most frequent annoyances about the homes of your friends and then avail yourself of the counsel of some reliable fellow, like your building material dealer, who has seen a great many families build and knows what they have discovered from their experience in the fascinating game you are about to start.

It is interesting to note that a few more than one-half of all the people consulted found some objection to their home. It is possible that the other half were consulted at a time when they were in better than average humor.

Note, too, the interesting fact that a large share of the home lives thought their house was too small... which indicates that it is a good idea to so build that you can add rooms to your home, if necessary.

SOUNDLY BUILT HOME BEST

Luxurious equipment and finishes on a house at the expense of sound construction is a waste of money and a mistake in judgment. It is better to invest your money in a soundly and well built modest home than in a house that looks like a mansion and is full of gingerbread ornament and poor workmanship and inferior materials.

Summer Living Focusses on The Porch

Much as the present generation may owe to the Victorian veranda of our father's day, it was never developed to its full functional use, but rather regarded as a purely extraneous appendage serving mainly as a support for the gingerbread decorations of the period. Only in recent years has the porch come into its own and been related to the whole living unit of the house.

A modern porch, with a little intelligent planning, can be the center of good weather living... a good place to eat... to read... to entertain... even to sleep. Following are a few thoughts that may be helpful in designing and building the porch on your new home:

Make the porch as private as possible. Face it toward the garden, if you can, away from traffic, and you will feel more like using it.

It is more versatile and more convenient if it opens from several rooms. Thus, for instance, if it opens into the dining room, it can, without many extra steps, serve as a pleasant summer eating place.

The porch will seem more directly connected with the outdoors, if it is not too high off the ground. Keep it low.

Do not build it less than eight feet wide... Ten, if possible... as that will add to its uses... bring in games, for instance.

The best improvement in porches in ten years has been the practice of complete screening. See that posts are wide apart for good vision, and eliminate the rail and balusters; they only add expense.

In addition to ceiling lights, electrical outlets should be provided around the walls, so lamps can be used wherever needed.

Painting the porch light colors will aid light in the rooms past which the porch runs.

The floor should be sloped for drainage. Water ice bound to get on the porch; be sure that it drains away from and not toward the house. This, also, makes the porch easy to clean with a hose.

Decide before building whether it will ever be desirable to enclose the porch and supply heat for use in winter. Money can be saved, if this is planned before construction starts.

It is not necessary to build a complete, new house to have a modern porch. One can be added to the old house, or the old one can be repaired and improved.

It cost about twice as much to carry on the operations of government in the 48 states in 1938 as it did in 1932.

Production of zippers amounts to $17,847,000 annually.

USE OF GLASS

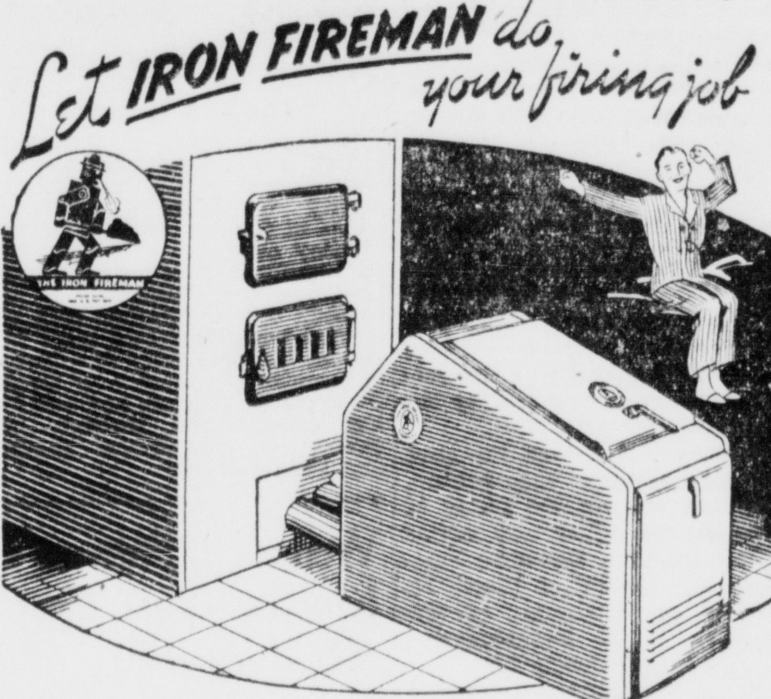

There is a marked architectural trend toward the use of glass in newer construction—both interior and exterior uses being found for it. This seems to be a trend that is not only beautiful but practical and sensible.

Broad window areas afford greater light and a more gracious frame for beautiful views outside. Glass mirrors add a seeming spaciousness within, and may be utilized to compliment and accentuate the decorative scheme of the rooms.

Glass contributes a pleasing effect of smart sophistication and of good taste to design and decoration when simplicity is the keynote.

Haenitsch-Bettin Wedding Occurs Wednesday Night

On Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock nuptial vows were spoken by Miss Gerhardine Bettin of Franklin Grove and Charles A. Haenitsch of Dixon, at the Lutheran parsonage in Nachusa. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend Mr. Ludwigson, pastor.

Attendants were Miss Elizabeth Duden of Franklin Grove, aunt of the bride, and Walter Heckman of Dixon.

For the ceremony the bride was wearing a street-length dress of navy blue, and her shoulder corsage consisted of pink rosebuds. She also wore a strand of pearls, the gift of the groom. For "something old" she carried a white linen handkerchief, which was seventy-five years old, and which had been the property of her great-grandmother Duden.

Immediately following the ceremony, the newlyweds were honored at a reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents, relatives of the couple being present. After a general social time, lunch was served.

The bride is the only daughter of Albert Bettin of Franklin Grove, and Mr. Haenitsch is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haenitsch, also of Franklin Grove. He is employed on a farm near Dixon. The couple enjoyed a short wedding trip to places of interest in Chicago, and are making their home, for the present, with the bridegroom's parents.

Betrothal of Miss Alice Street Told at Tea Yesterday

Mrs. Lester Street entertained yesterday with a tea, announcing the engagement of her daughter, Alice, to William Stapleton Watson, son of the J. R. Watsons of Chicago and Rockford.

Approximately 50 guests called at the Street home between 3:30 and 5:30. Receiving the guests with Mrs. Street were her daughter, Alice, Mrs. J. R. Watson, mother of the groom-to-be, and Miss Maxine Evans of Whitehall, Ill.

Mrs. Glen Courtwright and Miss Helen Carson assisted by Mrs. H. B. Street of Minneapolis presided at the beautifully appointed tea table. Above the tea table was a heart of white daisies suspended from the chandelier by yellow and white satin ribbons, in the center of which was a picture of the engaged couple. An arrangement of daisies with a miniature bride and groom and white lighted tapers formed the centerpiece.

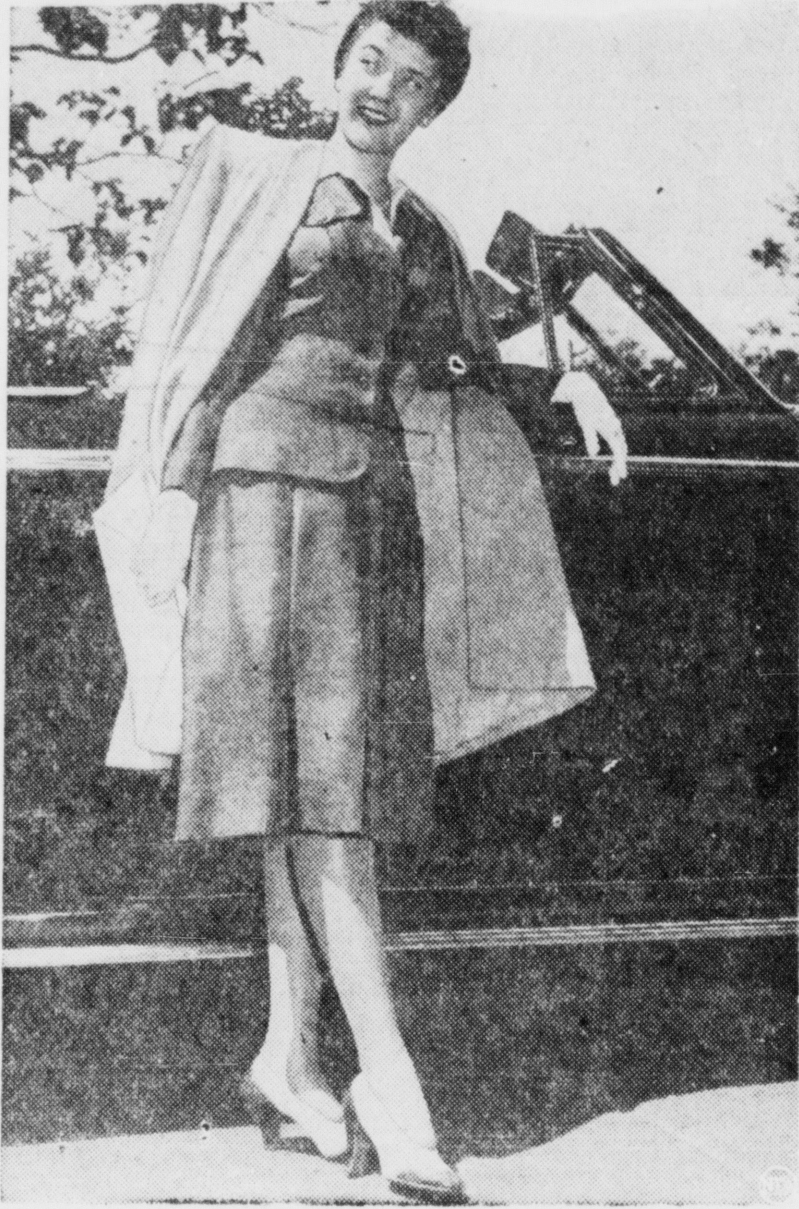

The Street-Watson wedding will be an event of late August.

Miss Street was recently honored at a personal shower given by a group of Delta Delta Delta sorority sisters in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, at the home of Mrs. Paul Dougan. Miss Street is an alumna of Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Playgoers Enjoy Comedy Presented at Grand Detour

Hilarious laughter resounded from old Illini Hall Thursday night as the Grand Detour Players, under the direction of Richard Vernon, presented Albert Hackett's smash New York hit "Up Pops the Devil."

First night playgoers were both amused and amazed at the weird collection of characters that inhabit the Greenwich Village apartment of Steve and Anne Merrick. Steve, a struggling young writer who never gets a moment alone with his typewriter because of his ever present party loving friends, is played by Edward Rees, a newcomer to the cast, who has appeared with the universally famous Nazimova in her production of Ibsen's "Ghosts" and more recently as young Abe Lincoln in "Prologue to Glory," which proved so popular to Sterling playgoers when it was shown there last season. Miss Joan Norlander, who needs no introduction to Grand Detour playgoers because of her splendid work of the past, is seen in the role of Anne Merrick, the young wife who turns breadwinner to give her husband a chance to write his novel. Steve soon finds that the business of housekeeping and writing a novel at the same time is not so simple.

Included among the Merrick's happy insane friends are Frank Duffy as George, the writer who has married millions only to find it's more fun to starve, John Cosgrove, as Biney Hatfield who thinks you can't have too much of a good time, and Miss Toni Lumley as Polly Griscom, a newspaper woman who holds a card in the leasebreakers' union.

Due to numerous requests after his first appearance last week, Richard Vernon, the group's director, again appears in the cast. This time he will be seen as a bewildered and wandering inebriate.

Supporting roles are contributed by Miss Edith Perry as a belle of the old south lost in the big city, and by Wallace Dace, a literary agent, who finds plenty of fiction material in the Merrick home.

Mr. Dace also designed the very striking and original Greenwich Village setting. Harold Wade, the local postmaster, who will be remembered from last year's successful performance of "Postscript," makes his initial appearance of the season as a lovable old Negro laundryman. Miss Loretta Kingsley, Don Randall, and Helen Slakis, in three excellent supporting roles, complete the cast.

Theatre goers are reminded that "Up Pops the Devil" will be shown tonight and Sunday night and Sunday matinee only, as "Aaron Slick From Punkin Creek," the old-time "meller drammer" that has been so eagerly awaited will open on next Thursday night.

Miss Beth Atkinson, whose engagement to Kenneth Barnhart was recently announced, was honored at a "boudoir" shower given by Miss Lorraine Hull last evening at the Loveland Community House.

Franklin Grove Man to Be Wed in Colorado Sunday

In a home ceremony tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, William L. McDivitt, son of Mrs. Albert Bettin of Franklin Grove, will take Miss Mabel Lucile Miles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Miles of Rocky Ford, Colo., as his bride.

The nuptials will take place in the Miles home, with the Rev. H. C. Alley, minister of First Methodist church in Rocky Ford, officiating. Preceding the ceremony Robert McDivitt of Alamosa, Colo., cousin of the groom, will sing "Because," accompanied by Mrs. William Moeny of Alamosa. She will play the wedding march from Lohengrin (Wagner).

The bride will wear a white chiffon gown and her corsage will be of Bettertime roses and stephanotis. Her attendant, Miss Virginia Sloan of Canon City, Colo., will have a dusty pink street-length frock and a corsage of pink roses.

Mothers of the bride and groom will wear navy blue and green sheer, respectively. Mrs. Miles' flowers will be peach gladioli and Mrs. Bettin's will be pink gladioli.

A reception at the home will follow the ceremony and the table will be centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Leo Kipper of LaJunta, Colo., sister of the bride, will serve the cake. When the bridal couple leaves for a short wedding trip, the new Mrs. McDivitt will be wearing navy blue with white accessories.

Miss Miles was graduated from Rocky Ford high school and from Adams State Teachers college in Alamosa this spring. Mr. McDivitt, a graduate of Franklin Grove high school, is studying at the Adams State Teachers college and plans to continue his work there. The couple will live in Alamosa.

Ford Opens School at Rouge to Train Youth in Aircraft

Dearborn, Mich. — With the recent opening of a new school unit for apprentice training in the aircraft industry, Henry Ford now has educational facilities at the Rouge plant to accommodate 10,000 student mechanics.

This extensive school system, comparable in size to a large university, is expected to go a long way toward solving the Ford Motor company's need for skilled manpower in filling extensive national defense orders.

Addition of the aircraft apprentice school is the latest step in this industrial education system. From a trade school with one instructor and a half dozen youthful students 25 years ago, the system has expanded to become the largest of its kind in the world.

The aircraft division occupies the front portion of the new $23,000,000 airplane engine plant in which Ford will produce 18-cylinder Pratt & Whitney airplane engines for the U. S. Army.

Within the last year Rouge plant floor space devoted exclusively to classrooms, laboratories and school shops has been increased from three to five acres. Approximately 100 new instructors have been added during the year, increasing the faculty to 384.

Practical Training "Classes being organized in the aircraft school include such practical training as machine shop, assembly, disassembly, inspection and testing of the Pratt & Whitney engine," said F. E. Searle, head of Ford schools in the plant.

"Also on the list of more important subjects are airplane engine mechanics, drawing, electricity, mathematics and metallurgy. Operation and interpretation of magnetic inspection of metals will be a highspot in the metallurgical work. All the vital metal parts in the Pratt & Whitney engine are checked by magnetic inspection for possible imperfections."

The Ford Aircraft school with a capacity for 3,000 apprentice students, is the second largest unit in the Ford industrial school system. Largest is the Apprentice School, in which youths beyond high school age and working as Ford employees receive special training in some trade. It has an enrollment of 4,000.

Oldest of the units is the Henry Ford Trade School, founded in 1916. The Trade School now enrolls 1,800 boys of high school age.

One of the newer educational projects within the immense Rouge plant is U. S. Navy Service School. This school gives 90 days of special mechanical instruction a year to 4,500 selected naval recruits, accommodating about 1,200 at a time.

"The new aircraft school expands further the broad technical education program for boys at the Rouge by entering a new industrial field, but even further expansion is planned," Mr. Searle commented.

"As the defense program gathers speed, the demand for skilled help increases. Our school directors already are considering more school facilities. Industries all over the nation are asking us for trained men. Of course, we can't hope to meet all such requests but we are lending a hand wherever schools similar to the Ford system are being organized."

A Thought For Today

Closer is He than breathing, and nearer than hands and feet.—Tennyson.

Uncle Sam as a Merchant

William S. Culbertson has an "Honorable" attached to his name. He becomes "the Hon." Mr.
Culbertson by reason of having been, at one time,
American ambassador to Chile, which as everybody knows, is a South American country lately afflicted with a species of communism. It seems that the Honorable Mr. Culbertson, because he knows his way around in South America, has become the representative for the Argentina Meat Producers' association. All that is by way of identification.

Mr. Culbertson appeared recently before a reciprocity committee which is studying American trade agreements. He urged the committee to look with a kindly eye upon further imports of canned Argentine beef.

"Who is it that wants this canned beef?" asks Mr. Culbertson, rhetorically. "The answer, of course, is that it is the millions of people in the United States on a relatively low standard of living who can not afford to buy at the present prices the steaks and the roast beefs that are available in our markets. . . The duties of that product and similar by products can be reduced without injuring in the slightest degree the cattle growing industry of the United States."

It would be unwise to debate with a man who knows his way around South America; but we are interested in knowing why South American cattle men and packers are able to grow cattle butcher them, process the meat, can it, haul it to harbors, place it on ships, send the ships to American harbors, transport the cans to wholesalers, jobbers and retail merchants, and still undersell the American beef which might be canned in Kansas City, Chicago or other centers.

In the course of his statement before the committee, Mr. Culbertson challenged the theory that Argentine beef is produced by peon labor. He intimated that the Argentine cowboy seems quite as well off as the American western farmer who produces beef. If that is true, and we have no reason to dispute Mr. Culbertson's word, then the peon labor theory is out and we must seek other reasons for the cheapness of the delectable cuts of Argentine beef.

Taxes may have something to do with it. Compare the standards of living of the Argentine government with those of our own. Does the government of that South American country indulge in the vast and world-reaching programs indulged in by our own regime? Does it tremble and lea-lend every time Europe gets into one of her wars?

Does it take care not only of its outposts, but of the outposts of belligerents and even non-combatants whenever there is a war in Europe? Further, is the government of Argentina trying to regulate the life and business of most of that country's industrialists?

Argentina could well work up a lather whenever the Gran Chaco is the center of a dispute; it could create a terrible brawl about the Falkland islands. Instead of doing all that, and more, it produces and sells beef, right under the nose of American canners and producers, and Argentina gets the markets while we get the promises.

The Smoke of Battle

It is not surprising that reports from Berlin and Moscow should be confusing. Neither Berlin nor Moscow, in days past, has shown any strong regard for truth, each saying what was best for propaganda purposes.

There is an old saying, born of experience, that the results of a battle can not be gauged properly until the dust and smoke of the aforesaid battle have cleared away.

With regard to the Russo-German conflict,
there probably never was as much smoke and dust in all the history of the world within the space of a fortnight. Millions of men, equipped with stupendous machines and vast fire-power are engaged in a titanic brawl extending over a line 2,000 miles long. Nothing like it ever was seen before. Regiments and even divisions are swallowed up and probably even lose contact temporarily with their high commands. Whether they are captured, annihilated, or whether they are carrying out assignments successfully can not be determined until they emerge —or fail to report.

One thing is certain: Regardless of the Red soldier's lack of mechanical training, the Reds are proving brave. And they seem to be equipped with almost inexhaustible stores of tanks, artillery and munitions. If the Germans have captured as much booty as they claim, and if the Reds still have the capacity and equipment to resist, we may understand what Stalin has been doing with his country's resources.

If the Reds eventually are defeated regardless of their thousands of tanks—some of them as heavy as 70 tons; if they are defeated regardless of their numerically superior manpower, then we shall have an estimate of the strength of the panzer legions.
Germany can claim no more than 80 million population. Russia has more than twice that number of inhabitants.

If the Germans still are advancing in the face of all that resistance it is easy to understand why France fell and England was forced off the continent. And why the Belgians surrendered.

Pacific Coast Conference has decided to use an orange-colored football for night games. Florida please note.

New Jersey judge ruled you can't drive an auto and hug a woman at the same time. Lots of young men know better.

What goes up must come down—and every time taxes take a jump they land on the consumer's neck.

When anyone turns green with envy he is ripe for trouble.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON (Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, July 19.—The public may be thinking about everything except 1944, but not the politicians. Only off-season for them is the 30 days immediately after an election. In the seven months that have passed since the last vacation period closed, general lines have been laid for coming events.
From these now you can get a fairly clear slant on how things are likely to go.

Nearest the rail in the Republican race is the distinct figure of Dewey. The New York district attorney and racketeer eradicator is making himself something more than that for next time. He will run for the same spring-seated governor's chair which catapulted Roosevelt into the White House, and produced such earlier candidates as Al Smith and Charles Evans Hughes. The election will come a year from November and Dewey is conceded an excellent chance of winning, even if La-Guardia or Jim Farley gets into it against him.

Devey, meanwhile, is keeping himself in the movies by nationwide leadership of the fund raising for the USO, a job which incidentally is taking him to all sections of the country to make speeches, and has even brought him to Fred Allen's radio program.

The more experienced leaders of the party are no closer to Dewey
now than at the Philadelphia convention last year when they declined to take him after his few spectacular primary victories. But they seem more mellow about it, probably because their objections about his lack of experience will be satisfied if the planned developments work out. They are now in the mood to say: "I don't like him, but if he wins the New York governorship, I think he should get it."

Wendell Willkie is making himself eminently eligible in case the country is still at war and the Roosevelt foreign policy is still popular in 1944. But his stand with or ahead of Roosevelt has nettled so many party men that his chances seem to rest upon this single possibility.

A promising chance is held by Senator Taft. He is going the even course of his opposition ways without making enemies or trying to gain popular leadership, like Lindbergh and Senator Wheeler.
When he gets through with this course, he will have probably the best record to point back to, in case the backwash of peace brings the usual revulsion of popular opinion after the stringent actions necessary in a national emergency.

Lindbergh has an unusual personality which may or not be suited to the political career into which he is launching himself. His speeches show some political savvy in the text, but are not delivered in the radio style considered (since Landon and Willkie) to be essential to control the interest of a national campaign audience. All those around him say he writes them himself, and of course, he has an outstanding writer of this generation in his own household. Little better prose had been written the past twenty years than Mrs. Lindbergh's "Flight To The Orient" and "Listen,
the Wind."

But Lindbergh does not measure up to anything beyond vice-presidential possibilities in technical political proficiency. He will probably run for the Senate from Minnesota and thereby may have a chance to cure this defect.

Herbert Hoover has already proclaimed himself out of it. Senator Vandenberg does not seem to be interested. Many Republican governors like Stassen of Minnesota, James of Pennsylvania, Saltonstall of Massachusetts may meet increasing mention, but Republican experience in the past two campaigns will favor choice of a national figure who does not

51 YACHTS TO SAIL IN RACE TO MACKINAC TODAY

Chicago, July 19.—(AP)—Businessmen sailors took the week end off from office duties today to sail 51 trim yachts over Lake Michigan waters in the 34th annual Chicago to Mackinac island race.

The first craft—those in both classes of the universal division prepared to leave Chicago's Belmont Harbor at noon (CST). Half hour intervals separated the departures of Class D, Class C, Class B, and Class A boats in that order.

The course is the world's longest fresh-water yacht route with yachts usually hugging the western Michigan shore after completing their crossing of the Lake near Ludington, Mich. Skippers may take any route they wish but their craft must pass between two buoys at the entrance of the Straits of Mackinac just before the finish.

The steamer lane distance between the start and finish points is approximately 331 miles.

Contributions To Aluminum Campaign Here Arrives Early

A very sizeable collection of discarded aluminum utensils has been delivered to the city hall in advance of the collection campaign which opens Monday and will continue through next week. While it is not expected that the discarded aluminum will be used directly in airplane construction, the committee in charge of the collection state that the old metal can be reused, thus releasing the virgin metal for the national defense program.

Housewives donations of aluminum during the aluminum scrap collection campaign, July 21-22 should permit construction of more than 2,000 additional fighting planes or 500 additional four-engine bombers, an official of the Conservation unit. OPM has informed Mayor William Slothower, chairman of the committee.

Although only part of the coffee pots and frying pans which housewives will give to the government can be used directly in aircraft manufacture, virtually every pound collected will be used for essential defense needs.

The donations of aluminum will free an equal amount in pounds of virgin aluminum to be used for aircraft purposes, so that whether the family coffee pot goes into an airplane or not, it releases an equal weight of aluminum for aircraft construction, the local committee has been advised.

"ON PADDLING A CANOE"

By SIG OLSON

The canoe is the most delicate and graceful of water craft, its lines pure symmetry and balance, its motion poetry itself. If silence in movement is any indication of perfection, then the canoe has no equal unless it be the drift of a sailboat before the breeze. But more than any of these is the fact that in a canoe a man is part of the medium through which he floats, at one with the sky and water.

The instant a paddle is dipped, a man unconsciously adjusts himself to the wind, the movement of the water, and rides his craft as though he were on a horse. It is the sole method of travel wherein a man must rely entirely upon his own reactions, control completely each and every movement. Here alone, he finds himself in direct response to the elements and because a canoe reacts so intimately to his slightest guiding touch, it becomes a personal thing, a form of movement which gives him more physical and spiritual satisfaction than any other.

A rowboat has the fulcrum of the oar lock to control it and the energy of a man rowing is but a secondary force. In paddling the motion is direct, the fulcrum, the lower hand and arm, the force transmitted without change of power or direction. Because of this directness, there is a perfect correlation and response to every whim and change or muscular control, a sense of complete co-ordination and harmony with ones environment such as can be attained in no other way.

There is also the matter of balance, the feeling that your craft is part of your bodily being, that no matter how big the waves or how the currents swirl, the canoe is part of you. When the point is reached where the rhythm of the stroke is as smooth and poised as the movement of the canoe itself, then comes unconsciousness of effort and smoothness of flow. When that occurs, weariness is forgotten and there is time to watch the sky and shorelines without thought of distance or time. The canoe slips through the water, obedient to the slightest wish and sometimes when the surface is calm and the clouds mirrored perfectly, a man might have the sensation of being suspended between heaven and earth, so completely is he at one with his environment. At such a time, he knows a pleasure as keen and unadulterated as any given man to enjoy.

fense. A day of travel in the teeth of a gale if a man knows his canoe, may be a day of exhilarating effort and though the night may find him weary and sore, his sleep is untroubled, his mind at peace with the world.

But more than all this, to know that hundreds of lakes and rivers are his, that no part of a wilderness is inaccessible where there are portages and waters enough to float his craft, gives a man a sense of unbounded range and unlimited possibilities of exploration such as no other craft can ever know. Sailboats and rowboats, launches and cruisers are hobbled by their very ungainliness and size to the waters on which they are placed. Not so with a canoe. Its owner is free as the wind and can travel wherever his fancy dictates, camp each night on a different lake, explore the most hidden and out of the way streamlets with complete abandon, for where ever there are waterways, there are also their connecting trails used by primitive man since the beginnings of time.

That is perhaps why canoeing love the sound of a paddle, why the handling of a canoe has such inherent appeal and satisfaction. Long before the days of mechanized transportation and before men learned to build larger craft, the waterways of the earth knew the dugout, the bark and skin hunting boats, the birchbark canoe. That is why men feel at home with a paddle in their hands, why the movement of a canoe seems the final answer to contentment. This, they know is the real thing, this is as close to the primitive as they will ever come.

Pairings Made For Tennis League's Singles Matches

DIXON WILL BE REPRESENTED BY ELEVEN PLAYERS

Play Begins Tomorrow Morning on Courts At Sterling

With Ward Smith and George Covert of Dixon's championship tennis team seeded No. 3 and 4, respectively, play will be starting on the Sterling courts tomorrow to determine the singles champion of the Rock River Valley league.

The local club has the largest entry list of any team represented in the two-week end event and the roster includes: Ward Smith, George Covert, Alan Wierman, Harold Peterson, Howard Quick, Bill Moser, M. M. Rosenberger, Charles Kearney, Cal Gillen, Ted Mason and Phil Reilly. The latter two are high school players who are expected to form the backbone of Coach Lundholm's team here next year. Gillen, a new name in the tennis list, is a former University of Colorado ace, former Junior Davis cup player and was chosen by Bill Tilden as the most likely younger player to succeed. Since that time Gillen has not played for a couple of years, but now returns to the tennis wars with new vigor.

Absent Players

Dick Joslyn, also a member of the Beier championship team of Dixon, is now in New York City and Red McNamera, another team mate will be working tomorrow and unable to play.

George Covert, secretary of the southern division of the league, reports that all teams are represented with at least four or more players with the exception of Freeport. The entry list includes 58 names.

Art Jones, of Rockford Tennis club, is seeded No. 1 in the tournament, and drew a bye in the first round.

Tournament officials hope to have reached the semi-finals by tomorrow night, barring bad weather, and expect to hold the semi-finals and finals on the following Sunday.

Jones is ranked tenth in the local tennis club, but the first eight men from Rockford Tennis club are barred from league competition because of a league ruling. The top-seeded player played on the varsity tennis squad at Illinois university this spring.

Four other Rockford T. C. players and six from Fellowship T. C. of Rockford are also included among the tournament entrants. BEN HOGAN LEADS FIELD AT CHICAGO

By EARL HILLIGAN

Chicago, July 19—(AP)—Golf's 140 pound package of scoring dynamite—slender Ben Hogan—apparently is ready to blast out another big nugget from the game's gold field.

The little professional from Hershey, Pa. — whose power off the tee is a never-ending source of wonderment to the galleries—led the field as the $5,000 Chicago Open championship headed into its second round at Elmhurst Country club today. And from the way he put together a card of 33-33-68 yesterday there were few willing to wager he won't be in front when the 72 hole test winds up tomorrow evening.

Hogan's five under par performance made him a virtual pinch to finish in the money—within the first 15 places. Should he do this it will be a 51st straight tournament in which he has grabbed a share of the prize awards—the most remarkable streak the game ever has known. He led the money winners last year and is far ahead in this campaign.

One stroke off the pace was Bud Williamson, tall professional from Fort Wayne, Ind., who had a card of 35-32-67. The remainder of the field, however, was well strung out. Jimmy Hines, Mike Turnesa, Tommy Armour and Johnny Bulla all had 70's to work on, with the 71 players being Horton Smith, Denny Shute, amateurs John Barnum and Ellsworth Vines, Jim Ferrier and Ernie Harrison.

The two big title winners of the summer found the going rough. Craig Wood, national open king, had a first round 73, while Vic Ghezzi, who took the PGA championship last Sunday, kited to a 78.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIEZE

New York, July 19—(The Special News Service)—Among those who came up with a low number in the new draft was Joe DiMaggio—the New York U. outfielder.

That injury Paul Derringer got in spring training is giving him trouble. Has to get up nights and walk the streets. Some of the Redies think he may have to go under the knife. If both the Yankees and Dodgers win and all the series games are played in the stadium, the winner's share should reach $5,000 per man, or just about a new high. Czar Elmer Layden will not reveal the identity of this year's National Football League officials until the men step on the field. Not even owners and coaches will know. A wire from Dallas says that Jack Dempsey, Bob Manziel oil partnership line we ran yesterday is five years old. Well, we only mentioned it for the benefit of those who had just turned in.

The Mail Box

Gary Johnson, Fort Worth: Ruth set the modern home-run record—60 in 1927. He broke his own record in 1921. Vic Clasen, Homewood, Ala.: If a third strike is tipped by the batter and dropped by the catcher, it's a foul and the ball is dead. Frankie Mack, Worcester, Mass.: Ty Cobb hit 420 in 1911, 410 in 1912 and 402 in 1921. Eddie Harvey, Sioux Falls, S. D.: You are wrong. Any ball hit over the fence is a homer, whether the score is needed or not.

Today's Guest Star

Banjo Smith, Columbia (S. C.) Record: "With Joe DiMaggio belting out new records and Vic Ghezzi winning golf's toughest tournament, the P. G. A., the Italians seem to be doing all right—on this side."

People You Know

Frankie Frisch is wearing basketball shoes to relieve his gout. Sam Miller, Indiana U.'s great quarter-mile of 15 years ago, soon will begin piloting Clipper ships across the Atlantic. Your old pal, Al Schacht, guest-stars on "The Sports Newsworld of the Air" tomorrow night. Most expensive bench-warmer in baseball is Charlie Gehringer at $25,000 per year. George Stinewiss, former U. of North Carolina grid star, now with Newark, already has swiped more bases in the International League than young Eddie Collins did to lead the loop last year. Billy Evans, the old umpire, can take bows for his eminently fair treatment of the Cleveland ball club situation in the current esquire. Maxie Baer can pick up five grand by fighting Patay Peroni in Syracuse.

And That's a Fact

"If Louis retires, what then?" asks the New York Sun. Just this. There'll be no real heavy-weight champion, no matter who inherits the crown.

ROCK FALLS LOSES FIRST GAME IN SEMI-PRO TOURNEY

Kewanee, Ill., July 19—(AP)—Competition in the state semi-Pro baseball tournament was at a standstill today as teams took the week end off. The next games will be played Monday night when the Davenport (Ia.) Maroons meet the Rock Falls All-Stars and Joel Schlitz faces the Tri-County League All-Stars of Cooksville. Loser in the first game will drop from the tournament, since each already has lost one tilt and two defeats eliminate an entry. Rock Falls suffered its first defeat last night at the hands of Johnson Motors of Waukegan, 9 to 1. Gipp Beers of Peoria also won last night, 5 to 2, over Spring Valley.

DI MAGGIO IS NEARING TOP OF SLUGGERS

New York, July 19—(AP)—It is a moot question whether lanky Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox is getting more pain from his ankle injury or from seeing Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees creep up on him in the batting averages.

After falling below .400 last week for the first time since late in May, Williams has been out of action except for pinchhitting and came up to today with a .395 average. DiMaggio went hitless Thursday night at Cleveland for the first time in 57 games, but this interruption in his batting spurt did not keep him from increasing his percentage during the week. Before today's contest he had .373, eight points higher than his average of last Saturday.

Pete Reiser of Brooklyn continued to pace the National League although his average of .348 would not place him among the first half-dozen hitters in the other circuit.

Los Angeles, July 19—(AP)—It's the same old story today—A. C. S. Howard horse against the field—as the finest thoroughbreds campaigning in the west meet, in the fourth running of the $75,000 Gold Cup handicap at Hollywood Park.

Fifty thousand or more race fans, plus virtually every handicapper in the park, went overboard on Mioland, Howard's crack four-year-old hope to duplicate Gold Cup victories by his Seabiscuit and Kayak II.

Slated to parade postward in the mile and one quarter race with Mioland were such outstanding entries as Porter's Cap, the favorite's stablemate; Big Pebble, winner of the Widener Cup last winter; Wolf Wolf, who gave Mioland a challenge in the American Handicap two weeks ago, and a paper-weighted colt from Harry L. Warner's stable, Paperboy.

Sweepa, No Competition, Ship Biscuit, Transient, Wing and Wing, Touch and Go and two Argentine contenders, Don Juan II and the mare, Barrancosa, owned by Bing Crosby and Lin Howard, rounded out the entries. Post time is 5:25 P. M. (7:25 P. M., CST.).

As a result, St. Louis swept the two-game series and cut Brooklyn's lead to two games before heading for a week-end in Boston.

The New York Yankees, American League leaders, also were stopped yesterday as Bob Feller pitched the Cleveland Indians to a 2-1 victory for his 19th win against four defeats. However, this still left the Yankees with a six-game lead and two-one edge in the three game series, as well as nine victories in 13 encounters with the Indians for the season.

Rain and darkness halted play in the last of the eighth after a double by Oscar Grimes, a safe bunt by Ray Mack and a fielder's choice provided the deciding run in the seventh.

Joe DiMaggio, whose hitting streak was snapped at 56 games the night before, hit a bonafide single and also got credit for a double when Larry Rosenthal let a fly get away from him for New York's only run in the sixth. Feller gave six hits and fanned nine.

Fails to Get 300th Win
Lefty Grove failed a second time to nail down the 300th victory of his career as the Chicago White Sox nosed out the Boston Red Sox, 4-3, in 10 innings. Grove allowed seven hits, compared with the nine Boston collected off Johnny Rigney, but an error by Lou Finney let in the winning run.

Prizes for the best gypsy costume were won by Miss Verna Dentler and Miss Lois Bowen. The judges were Charles Rowland, C. E. Bamforth, Attorney Runnels and Frank Wilson. Several games were played and each gypsy had his or her fortune told. During the fortune telling, several articles were taken from each person which they had to redeem for forfeiture after the fortune telling.

When the time came for refreshments each one had a dish towel tied around their neck. The first course was all-day suckers, the second ginger bread with whipped cream, iced tea, mints and candy corn. The third course was chewing gum and the fourth, indigestion. At a late hour the guests departed, all having spent a most enjoyable evening.

Expect Special News
The German public, told all week that things were going well along the entire front but given little specific information, expected another week end of special radio bulletins from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters telling of the drives toward Leningrad and Kiev.

The Russians reported their troops were fighting a desperate battle, costly to both sides, in an effort to stem the Nazi advance. A Moscow war bulletin said "great battles" raged yesterday in the Pskov-Porkhov area, 150 miles from Leningrad, and the Smolensk sector.

Fighting also was said to have developed in the area of Polotsk and Nevel, northwest of Vitebsk, as the Germans widened the base of their wedge to Smolensk.

The departure of 12 junior officers and clerks of the United States embassy at Moscow for Kazan was disclosed after a half-hour all-raid alarm in the soviet capital last night. No bombs were dropped.

Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt and his principal assistants remained in Moscow and the move of the others was described as purely a precautionary measure.

Rosenwald Fund Spends $16,620,000 Since '17
Chicago, July 19—(AP)—The Julius Rosenwald Fund reported today it had spent $16,620,000 since it was established "for the well-being of mankind" in 1917.

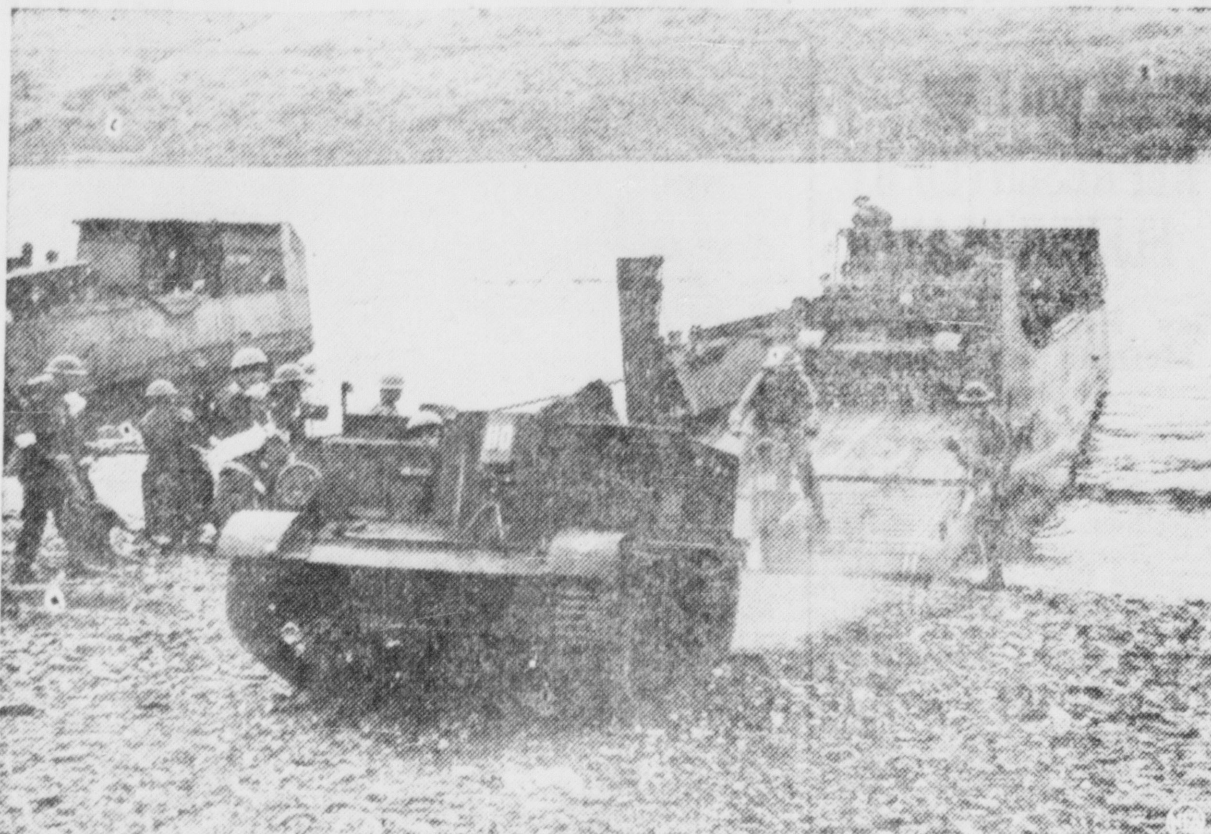

Edwin R. Embree, president of the fund, said its programs in education and Negro welfare required $769,061 for the year ended June 30. Of this amount, $500,000 was spent for rural education among both Negroes and white people in the south.

There now remains a balance of approximately $4,000,000, which Rosenwald, a Chicago merchant and philanthropist, provided must be expended within 25 years after his death, or by 1957.

Embree stated that the policy of the fund was to continue to make expenditures as opportunities offered, and that the fund would probably complete its work in another five to seven years.

More than $40,000,000 worth of musical instruments are produced annually in the U. S.

Famed Italian Flier Dies in Plane Crash

Rome, July 19—(AP)—Lieut. Col. Arturo Ferrarin, 46, one of the first men to fly the South Atlantic, was killed yesterday when an experimental plane he was piloting crashed.
Ferrarin, a World War pilot flew from Rome to Tokyo in 1921, competed in the 1926 and 1927 Schneider cup races and made a non-stop 4,448-mile flight in 1928 from Rome to point near Natal, Brazil.
Premier Mussolini named Ferrarin as his personal pilot-in-waiting in 1928.

Installation sales volume in 1940 was estimated to be in excess of $5,000,000.

Hope Sloop's Log

They had taken only 30 days' food supply.
Dr. Samuel C. Benadon and psychologists who have treated Mrs. Thompson since she was brought home said their chief hope of restoring her memory and health was to shock her into remembrance by reading excerpts of the Wing On's log.
Sec. Hull Intervenes
A transcript of the log arrived yesterday after Secretary of State Hull had intervened with British officials.
Attorney Robert Neeb, Jr., declined to disclose contents of the log "unless and until Mrs. Thompson recovers and chooses to do so herself."
But a vivid description of three horror-filled weeks before she was rescued came from Wainwright Abbott, American consul at Suva. In a note accompanying the transcript, he wrote:
"Afloat on a rolling pitiless expanse of ocean for nearly two weeks after the death of the yacht owner, Conly, whose decomposed body remained aboard, and three weeks after the death of her husband, who was buried at sea. She had lived, indeed, in the week of death for three weeks."
"The stench of death still oozed from the recovering body cells of this living woman... Her sudden mental collapse following the shock of rescue from a position of horror and lonely death..."
Neeb said Thompson starved herself, "heroically yielding his food portions so that the mother of his two babies would survive."

Habeas Corpus Sought—
A habeas corpus proceeding has been filed in Lee county Circuit court by Chicago attorneys to secure the release from the Dixon state hospital of August Lococo, 21 of Chicago. The action, which names Dr. Warren G. Murray, managing officer of the Dixon institution as the defendant, seeks to have the patient delivered into court and cause shown for his detention. The action states that Lococo has been confined in the institution since October, 1937 when he was committed from the Municipal court of Chicago. He was paroled later and was returned in November, 1938, for alleged violation of probation. The complaint states that the complaining witness failed to appear and file charges when Lococo was returned to the institution, which is ground for the action seeking his release.

Pioneer

(Telegraph Special Service)

Amos Harmon, above, who was 95 years of age on October 16, 1940, resides with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dollie Harmon, 4 1/2 miles south of Forreston, and is the oldest person living in Lincoln township, and has been a resident of this township since its formation from Mount Morris township. Before retiring a number of years ago he engaged in farming.

Mr. Harmon is in good health and active and takes a keen interest in community and national news. He listens to the radio, but is unable to read as much as he would like because of impaired eyesight.

His parents came west in a covered wagon in 1839 and settled in Lincoln township. He is the youngest of ten children, all except two of whom lived to be more than ninety years old. A sister, Mrs. Harriet Kennedy of Mt. Carroll was the mother of the first white child born in Carroll county. He originated the Harmon family reunion held the first time six years ago, and has missed only one of these family gatherings, and is now looking forward to the reunion which will be held in a few weeks. In 1939 the family celebrated the 100th anniversary of its arrival in the west.

Mr. Harmon cast his first vote for Abraham Lincoln in 1864, when Mr. Lincoln was a candidate for a second term. He is proud of his life-long adherence to the principles of the Republican party and at the last presidential election voted for Wendell Willkie.

His wife, the former Anna Cross of Polo, whom he married in August, 1874, passed away in September, 1914. His only son, Howard, passed away seven years ago.

Mr. Harmon has four grandsons, two great grandchildren, twenty-two nieces and nephews and a number of great nieces and nephews. Little Miss Wava Jean Fager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fager of Forreston is a great-great-niece of Mr. Harmon.

Methodist Church
Rev. John E. Robson, Minister
Sunday school as usual. No church services during church vacation.

Presbyterian Church
Rev. Frank A. Campbell, minister
There are only two more Sundays before the vacation period when the church will be closed for five Sundays to permit the redecorating of the interior. It was thirteen years ago this summer that the church was last decorated, and all will be glad to see a new bright church to come back to this fall.

The pastor's theme next Sunday will be "The Note of Gladness in Our Religion". The public is cordially invited.

The final service before vacation will be the Mid-Summer Communion Service, and it is hoped the members will make a special effort to be present.

A subscription list has been opened to defray the expenses of the redecorating job, since there is no provision made for this in the budget. Several persons have these subscription papers, and it is hoped every church family will see that it has a part in this much-needed project.

Come to church if you can these next two Sundays, then we can all take a vacation with a good conscience.

Jobs and Wages Showed Big Increase in State
Chicago, July 19—(AP)—The state department of labor disclosed today that jobs and wages in Illinois from May to June this year had the biggest increase compared with any corresponding period in the past 18 years, except in 1933.

Martin P. Durkin, department director, said that reports from 6,464 establishments showed an increase of 2.6 per cent in the number of wage earners and a gain of 4.7 per cent in total wage payments. He said that the principal factor in the gains was added industrial activity and improved general business. A small part of the hike in wages, he added, probably was due to normal seasonal production factors.

Cover, who visioned a place where Sunday school classes and other church organization could meet for social occasion. The plan was suggested to the Truth Seekers class which was very glad to sponsor such a project. Kenneth Hood was chosen chairman of the project. Ruth Hussey was president of the class and Mrs. Cover were planners. The beautiful fireplace and seats were built by Rev. Cover, Emory Wolf, Beryl Beeghly and Kenneth Ploutz. Stones of various color and type had been gathered from various states and many places of this community. Some were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Blank, Beryl Beeghly, the Ernest Fair family, the Harry Joynt family, Ira Buck, Kenneth Hood and Lloyd Group.

The name chosen for the fire place was Mizpah, for as well as a place to eat it is a place to watch, the evening sunset and its after glow, and later the dying embers of the fire.

The following dedication program was presented: Vesper call, Barbara Kohl; Day is Dying in the West by the People; prayer, Emory Wolf; Lighting the Fire, Beryl Beeghly; poem, Ruth Hussey; vocal duet, "Sundown", Jeanette and Audra Miller, accompanist June Hatch; dedication remark, Rev. S. L. Cover; "Abide with Me", by the audience; dedication prayer, Rev. O. D. Buck; benediction, the pastor; "Now the Day is Over", organ. After the dedication program the social committee consisting of Mrs. Verda Blocher, Mrs. Lucille Kinsley and Mrs. Cover directed games for the younger group while the older ones enjoyed visiting. Ice cream and cake was served on the electric lighted lawn. It is well worth anyone's time to go to parsonage and see this beautiful lawn with the fireplace, large pool and other attractions.

Obituary

John H. Sloggett, son of William and Bettina Sloggett, was born in Alberta, Canada, on November 1, 1855. The family moved to Ogle county, Illinois, while he was yet a small boy and his later childhood and the years of his early manhood were spent in that county. On February 2, 1883, he married Miss Julia Holsinger of Mt. Morris, and they lived for a time on a farm near Lighthouse. Two children were born to this union, both dying in infancy and the mother in 1889.

He moved to Franklin Grove, where in 1893 he was married to Miss Lucy Sanders. They established their home on a farm near Ashton, where they lived for over forty years. Two daughters, Ethel and Alma, were born to this union, the mother dying in April, 1919.

He united with the Presbyterian church many years ago and was a regular attendant until he lost his hearing. His was a friendly nature, and his cheery word of greeting will be missed by those who knew him best.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, July 15, at the Hicks funeral home, conducted by Rev. Grafton. Two beautiful hymns, "No Night There" and "In the Garden" were sung by Mrs. Golden Calhoun of Ashton, accompanied by Mrs. Grace Linscott.

Evacuation of Women and Children Now in Somaliland Is Sought

Vichy, France, July 19—(AP)—The French have begun parleys with the British over evacuation of women and children from French Somaliland, it was learned today, indicating hope virtually has been given up that the outpost of France's empire would be able to hold out against British and Free-French blockade.

(British headquarters at Cairo reported yesterday that an offer had been made to the French governor at Djibuti to remove women and children from the colony at the head of the Gulf of Aden, bordered by British-captured Eritrea, Ethiopia and British Somaliland.)

It was reported here that the situation at the colony has grown worse daily since June 21 when the Vichy government said it had received an ultimatum that the colony be turned over to Gen. Charles De Gaulle's Free French or be blockaded.

Scrap iron and steel consumption in the U. S. for the first four months of 1941 totaled 17,500,000 tons, or approximately 6,000,000 tons more than recorded for the same period in 1940.

America's aircraft industry has expanded by tenfold in the past 30 months.
